comfortable position to work towards getting professional status for social work in India. A blue print has been already framed to facilitate negotiation with the government of India under the leadership of Professor Gracious Thomas who was the brainchild behind the formation and establishment of NAPSWI.

Prof. Thomas has only one ambition before his retirement from service namely, to get professional status for social work. In fact when he handed over the charges to the outgoing Executive Committee, he had apprised them of the work to be done. However, no initiative was taken by the Executive Committee on this proposal. Expressing his anguish over the manner in which the NAPSWI leadership was functioning, he has returned the “Lifetime Achievement Award” from NAPSWI.

Our Panel is confident that, if elected, the professional status for social work which is due for last eight decades shall be achieved; NAPSWI would be expanded and consolidated with state chapters and ensure its presence both at national and international forums.
